

Young Society for Intercultural Education, Training and Research

8th Annual Congress:

“Intercultural or Interpersonal: Where Does Personality End & Culture Begin?”

Valencia, Spain

September 28 – October 1, 2006

Feel invited!

The program of the congress will feature workshops and other activities, enabling the participants to choose a theme and level according to their background. The congress is targeted at newcomers to the field (introduction program to the intercultural field), more advanced participants (e.g. students of the field – pedagogically oriented topics, putting intercultural awareness into practice), as well as professionals and scientists (sharing knowledge and research results).

Who’s and what’s

Just a handful of the inspiring sessions to come: “Global Diversity and Inclusion”, “How intercultural intersects with diversity and inclusion”, “Where does personality end and culture begin: Answers from Bioenergetics, NLP and Intercultural Communication”, “Color and Culture” and many more. The list of speakers is still open. However, the following persons have already confirmed their participation: Ruth van Reken, Gesa Krämer, Maria Jicheva, Jeremy Solomons, Kelli McLoud Schingen, Paul Westlake, Veronique Kilian, Beatrice Schmid and Kazuma Matoba.

We believe that the congress should do more than just present state-of-the-art knowledge. Important as it may be, we are also aiming at transferring skills and building up a network of young interculturalists – we consider broad interaction amongst facilitators and participants as a priority.

If you’re curious and willing to know more...

...about the 8th Annual Young SIETAR Congress, feel free to visit our website www.youngsietar.org where you will find a link to our special congress website. Here you will have access to the latest information about congress speakers and facilitators, the program agenda, logistics and registration, congress fees, web links to related sites, and more.

How to be a part of it?

Registration has opened! If you would like to be kept up to date with the latest developments and receive a monthly update on the congress progress please send an email to congress@youngsietar.org

We look forward to meeting you in Valencia!